Hours: Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Accessibility and Disability Services (ADS) at TU works with students with various disabilities and some temporary conditions that substantially limit one or more major life activities. These include learning disabilities, attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder, mental health disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, brain injuries, physical/mobility and medical disabilities, vision and hearing disabilities as well as speech/language disabilities. The ADS staff is available to answer questions regarding how to register with ADS, the required disability documentation and the types of accommodations and services offered.

ADS works with each student individually to determine and implement reasonable accommodations based on documentation and a personal interview. Students are encouraged to register with ADS as soon as possible after admission to TU to ensure timely provision of services. ADS encourages new students to maintain regular contact with our office, especially during their first year. This contact provides the opportunity for ADS staff to guide students and to work with them proactively to resolve problems that may arise.

Through an interactive process, ADS works closely with faculty, staff and students to implement the provision of accommodations. Accommodations are determined on a case-by-case basis and may include testing accommodations, note-taking assistance, interpreting services, alternative formats for printed materials, assistive technology, priority registration, para-transit registration and internship accommodations. ADS also offers short-term help with organization and study skills, disability consultation and advocacy assistance, help with course selection, as well as information about other resources on and off campus.

Students should initiate the registration process by submitting an online application, located on the ADS website, along with documentation of their disability. Students are also welcome to call or visit the ADS office for further information.
